Annual Report

FOR THE FINANCIAL YEAR 2013 - 2014

You will not see what you have not dreamt of until someone pushes them into reality and likewise CECS has been dreaming with nothing in its hands until The Hans Foundation came into our lives pushing us in transforming several lives in the community and in building our challenged society.

I thank ICLRP Dimapur (A project of World Vision) for imparting a sense of responsibility and enabling us to see beyond the lines by inspiring us to strive forward and continue to change the lives of the people.

CECS is a 9 years old organization standing firm facing several challenges in performance and result however despite of all these challenges CECS has always been faithful to its calling in serving the community and changing people's lives and is even more determined and committed to serve and become a part of "Changing lives".

There is indeed immense joy and satisfaction when we see people's lives transformed and changed because of our works. Tasks has not always been easy as planned, it takes risks, courage, dedication, commitment and hard work to achieve things that are unseen and unexpected. CECS is successful in all its endeavors today because of the sacrifice and commitment of all our staffs and team without whom nothing would have been achieved.

In 2013, staffs of NCLP visited those places where children are involved in work, who were at the age group of 8-14 years. These children were never enrolled in school by their parents. So the teachers tried to talk to their parents and convinced them to let their children go to school. Around 45 children who were involved in various occupations were withdrawn and were admitted to NCLP schools in order to let them pursue their education.

VIII. INTEGRATED WATER MANAGEMENT & SUPPLY (IWRMS)

Integrated Water Management & Supply (IWRMS) is a project running under the support of The Hans Foundation aiming to provide the community with the much needed water resources in the village, started since January 2013; the project was completed on October 2013. IWRMS aimed to provide the community in helping them maintain the natural sources available to them. There is inconsistency in the future availability of water due to variations in climate change. It is important that IWRMS not only focus on providing the community with the water sources needed for their usage but also help in maintaining the source, through awareness, training/or community treatment so that in further future there would be less scarcity in water usage & availability.

Objectives:

- To improve the poor planning and maintenance of water supply system in the village
- To make water available even during drought seasons
- To train community representatives on water usage, distribution and clean maintenance of water tanks both rainwater and ground source.

Highlighting Problems:

- Unhygienic maintenance of natural water resources
- Unavailability of water during drought seasons
- ineffective and inefficient management of water services

Considering the problems during the project proposals the project has come a long way to acknowledge its success. Some of the following are the highlights of the problems/situation before the programme

Implementation:

- Water had to be pumped out through a motor which needs a high amount of electricity and the more the usage the more the cost.
- during power shortage the villagers are left with no supply of water
- no awareness had been generated among the villagers, thus leading to poor maintenance and sanitation of water sources
- village council charges Rs.50 per hour to run the water and not everybody can afford the amount
- because of the high altitude the water comes up with less force
- the people residing in the upper line of the village are more at disadvantage since they have to come down from the slopes to fetch water
- not every household can afford water
- Tanks for preserving water to sustain them during drought seasons
- most young people or children leave their homes in villages for towns which leaves the elders and old people to difficult work of fetching water

Work Achievement:

- Reservoir construction: capacity of 3,00,000 litres
- Replacing new/ updated pipes- measures for water harvesting
- 35 pipe lines for 200 households
- Renovation of two existing natural water sources 2 sites

Action Steps What Will Be Done?

Goal 3:	Goal 3: Orientation & Community Training

The above mentioned achievements have led to:

- Minimizing the existing problem of water harvesting/availability
- Supply water to every village households through pipe lines in order for quick & easy availability
- Benefitting 200 village households
- Making community aware of the water harvesting techniques so as to avoid unavailability during drought seasons

The mentioned objectives for the project has been completed, the village earlier faced with drought problems are positive about the development that has come. For rain water harvesting and water storage, measures have been taken up to ensure that the development reaches every village household by building a distribution tank to various pipe lines, newly connected pipes for water harvesting and additional sub water lines for easy accessibility.
